

MEXICAN REBELS TAKE BORDER TOWN AFTER TERRIFIC BATTLE

FEDERALS SURRENDER NOGALES, SONORA, TO GENERAL OBREGON'S MEN.

AMERICANS INJURED

STRAY BULLETS REACH SEVERAL RESIDENTS OF ARIZONA.

U. S. TROOPS NOW ON GUARD

Dead and Wounded of Fight Lay in Sun Several Hours Before Aid Arrives.

Nogales, Ariz., March 13.—Colonel Komerly, commanding the federal garrison at Nogales, Sonora, surrendered to General Obregon, the rebel commander, tonight at 6:40 o'clock after a terrific battle which lasted throughout the day.

During the conflict several persons on the American side of the border were wounded.

American troops were rushed here from Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and tonight 500 troops, a portion of the Fifth cavalry, are doing duty along the border. Despite protests from Lieutenant Colonel Tate and Consul Simpkins, many bullets struck on the American side throughout the day.

The renewed attack late in the afternoon increased the danger to residents of the Arizona town. Three non-combatants were wounded here, while two American women had narrow escapes from injury, one bullet even piercing a woman's skirt while on the porch of her home. The killed or wounded in the day's battle could not be estimated.

Americans to Aid.

Twenty injured from both sides were brought to hospitals here, but an American physician, who braved the firing line, reported many more wounded who could not be reached without danger to the rescuers. American residents here quickly gave their services as Red Cross volunteers.

Nogales is set in an ideal position for defense, between two ranges of hills running parallel north and south. The state troops were compelled to move through this mountainous land and were mowed down by the fire of the federal rifles and machine guns. On the plains between the hills the attackers concealed themselves in shallow trenches caused by the mountain freshets.

Bodies Lay in Sun.

Here men dead or wounded lay in the sun without attention. Twice during the day General Obregon failed in stubborn attacks on the defenders. At 1:30 o'clock the third attempt was made to assault the federal positions. This was more successful, the defenders deserting the right front and extreme left trenches and fleeing to the cover of the town. This increased the hot fire from the American guns, and when a report reached Colonel Tate that one of his men had been wounded he hastily assembled his troops.

BORDER SITUATION GRAVE.

Troops at Galveston Get Orders to Be Alert.

Galveston, Tex., March 13.—Conditions in Mexico and especially along the boundary are considered grave and orders were issued today by Brigadier General Frederick A. Smith, commanding the fifth brigade of infantry, for all men to hold themselves in constant readiness for instant embarkation on the four army transports now in port.

General Smith ordered all regimental and separate organization commanders to issue orders for instructions to the men as to disposal of equipment. One of the daily drills for the present will be in disposal of equipment for embarkation. The men were ordered to embark with a minimum of equipment.

The different regiments during the next few days will break camp, dispose of all equipment and embark on one of the transports, for practice, as they will return to their camps after embarkation. The four transports, Sumner, Meade, Kilpatrick and McClellan, are fully provisioned and kept in constant readiness for the reception of troops.

ACTIVITY AT WASHINGTON.

Brigadier General Bliss Gets Order to Protect Americans.

Washington, March 13.—War department officials are in close touch with the situation near Nogales, and instructions today were issued to Brigadier General Bliss, which give him discretionary authority to deal with the situation in case American lives or property are in danger.

It was said at the department that the American officers on the border have been charged to distinctly warn the Mexican leaders they must not seek engagements in places which would result in danger on the American side.

REPORTED EXECUTION.

Governor of Coahuila Said to Have Been Killed.

Laredo, Tex., March 13.—Venustiano Carranza, governor of Coahuila, who revolted against the Huerta government, was captured and shot this afternoon by federal troops under General Tracy Aubert, according to a private telegram received at Monterey tonight. The reported execution took place between Bajana and Monclova. Official confirmation had not been secured up to a late hour.

BURLESON PLANS OFFICE GIVING

POSTMASTER GENERAL HAS SOLUTION FOR PROBLEM CONFRONTING ADMINISTRATION.

FAVORS DEMOCRAT PATRONS

Method Would Open 35,000 Third and Fourth Class Postmasterships to Party Followers.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson's advisers have hit upon solutions of two of the political problems confronting the administration, which promised to be most troublesome—what kind of democrats shall get plums from the political tree and how thousands of democrats can be given a chance to get near the tree.

Within the next few days Postmaster General Burleson is expected to present to the president's consideration, a plan which opens to democrats the 35,000 third and fourth-class postmasterships, placed under civil service recently by Mr. Taft. Mr. Burleson said tonight he had not yet decided whether to ask the president for a revocation of this order. If he decided against it he will suggest that postmasters who benefited by the Taft order be required to pass a merit system test open to all.

If the president took the first course thousands of postmasterships would be available at once, and if he chose the other, democrats who entered the merit competition would have as good a chance as republicans incumbents.

Mr. Burleson and Chairman McCumber of the democratic national committee, have settled upon a plan for patronage in the distribution which also will be submitted to the president shortly. If it is followed, the question of whether a candidate for office is backed by "organization" men or "anti-organization" men will not figure. The president will be advised to go upon the principle that any man who subscribes to the democratic platform and shows his belief in democratic principles is politically fit for office. Personal fitness, of course, will be considered. This disposition has been shown in the first batch of presidential appointments. Some of the most prominent men whom the president has thus far named opposed his nomination at Baltimore.

MAN AND CASH "LOST"

CHIEF CLERK OF ALABAMA STATE CONVICT DEPARTMENT MISSING.

Books Show Discrepancy of Many Thousands of Dollars—Governor O'Neal Offers Reward.

Montgomery, Ala., March 13.—Theodore Lacy, chief clerk of the state convict department and custodian of all its funds, has disappeared, with his accounts about $150,000 out of balance and with money estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000 in his possession.

The discrepancies date back to June, the advance carried with him was from local banks on checks signed by James G. Oakley, president of the department.

A warrant for Lacy's arrest has been issued and a reward of $1000 offered by Governor O'Neal. The missing official was last seen in Montgomery Wednesday afternoon soon after he had turned over two checks, alleged to be worthless, and amounting to $117,000 to Dan G. Trawick, first assistant clerk of the convict department.

Sufficient proof of the shortage was obtained Thursday morning by State Examiner Brooke, when deposit books were taken from Lacy's desk. The first direct evidence of discrepancy was found Wednesday when the records of the chief clerk failed to show up duplicates of cotton bills amounting to more than $29,000.

With his records failing to tally with those of the state cotton mill at Spigner, the examiner yesterday requested Lacy to produce his deposit books. This was not done, and the examiner reported the matter to Governor Oakley this morning. The governor was informed of the shortage shortly after its discovery and warrants were immediately issued. Lacy was not under bond.

PROPOSE SENATE PROGRAM.

Senator Newland's Object Is to Keep Committee Busy.

Washington, March 13.—A program for the special session of congress, proposed in the senate today by Senator Newland, would require senate committees to take up the tariff, anti-trust, river regulation, currency, conservation, public land and army regulation in preparation for the next regular session of congress.

"It is not my purpose to embarrass the extra session by any legislation other than the tariff," said Senator Newland, "but simply to keep the committees employed in work which will be productive of results at the session commencing in December."

The First Session of President Wilson's New Cabinet

Democratic Forces Take Charge of U. S. Senate; Name Officers

Pave Way for Reorganization of Committees and Control of Legislative Affairs.

Washington, March 13.—The democratic forces took charge of the democratic senate today, elected new officers to preside over that body and paved the way for reorganization of committees and a new control of legislative affairs.

Another session of the democratic "steering" committee brought the committee lists near to completion. It is expected a democratic caucus tomorrow would prepare all committees for presentation to the senate Saturday.

The personnel of the finance committee became definitely known tonight. As now agreed upon, it is:

Democrats—Chairman Simmons, of North Carolina; Stone, Williams, Johnson, Shively, Gore, Thomas of Colorado; James of Kentucky; Hughes of New Jersey.

Republicans—Penrose, Lodge, McCumber, Smoot, Gallinger, Clark of Wyoming; La Follette.

Tillman Believed Winner.

It was said on high authority tonight that Senator Tillman had won his fight for chairman of the appropriations committee.

Senator Overman has been selected for chairman of the banking and currency committee. Senator O'Gorman probably will be made chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals.

The senate elected Senator Clarke of Arkansas president pro tempore today and chose other officers as follows:

James M. Baker, South Carolina, secretary; Charles P. Higgins, Missouri, sergeant-at-arms; Forest J. Prettyman, Washington, D. C., chaplain; Thomas W. Keller, West Virginia, assistant doorkeeper; Carl A. Loeffler, Pennsylvania, acting assistant doorkeeper.

Gore Has Objections.

Senator Gore objected to the election of the latter, who was named by the republicans as their confidential employee on the floor. He declared a senate page had told him that Mr. Loeffler was responsible for the disappearance of the so-called Holtzlaw certificate deposit which figured prominently in the first trial of Senator Lorimer. Republicans warmly defended their sole employee and declared the charge was a "gross injustice" to Mr. Loeffler.

He was re-elected with the support of a majority of the democrats, and an investigation of the whole affair was ordered. The senate committee on privileges and elections will conduct the investigation.

Chairmanship Settled.

The more important democratic chairmanships, which are now believed to have been settled, include the following:

Gore, agriculture and forestry; Bacon, foreign relations; Stone, Indian affairs; Newlands, interstate commerce; Johnston, military affairs; Culberson, judiciary; Bankhead, postoffice and post roads; Swanson, public buildings and grounds; Overman, rules; Fletcher, printing; Pomerene, district of Columbia; Thornton, fisheries.

Senate Confirms Appointments.

Washington, March 13.—The senate today confirmed the appointments made by President Wilson of Daniel C. Roper, South Carolina, first assistant postmaster general; Alex M. Dockery of Missouri, third assistant postmaster general. A number of army appointments also were confirmed.

Avalanche Kills Sixteen.

Christiana, Norway, March 13.—Sixteen persons were killed by an avalanche which overwhelmed three farms in the Gudbrands valley in southern Norway today.

Foreign Charters Not Admitted Except Conform to Texas Laws

State Law Officer Gives Opinion Which Affects Corporations Organized Under Arizona Statutes.

Austin, Tex., March 13.—The attorney general's department, in an opinion to the secretary of state on the effect of foreign corporations, held, in right, that a foreign corporation cannot be granted a permit to transact business in this state, unless it is incorporated for one of the purposes for which a corporation may be chartered in the state of Texas; that when it is admitted to the state it is governed by all the laws of the state which apply to domestic corporations.

It was also held that where a charter is obtained from another state with no bona fide intention of transacting business in the state which issued the charter, that the rule of comity between the states did not apply and that such corporation could not be granted a permit to transact business within the state of Texas.

In other words, a corporation which does not transact business in the state of its creation or which is not organized bona fide to transact business in the state of its creation, cannot be granted a permit to transact business within the state of Texas.

Debt Exemption Clause Invalid.

It was also held that where the incorporators of a corporation chartered under the laws of Arizona, placed within their charter a clause to the effect that the private property of the incorporators should be exempt from corporate debts, that the placing of such clause in the charter placed the charter beyond the rule of comity and that such corporation could not be granted a permit to transact business within the state of Texas.

It was also held that where the incorporators placed within the terms of their charter, when taken out under the laws of Arizona, a clause to the effect that the directors should be the sole judges of the property taken in payment of stock, that such a clause was in conflict with the laws of Texas and removed the charter out of the rule of comity and that such corporation could not be granted a permit to transact business within the state of Texas.

Ninety Days Is Limit.

It was held also in the opinion that inasmuch as under the laws of Arizona a corporation chartered by that state could not transact business in the state longer than ninety days after the filing of its articles of incorporation without making a publication of its articles as required by the laws of that state and the filing of the affidavit of publication with the Arizona corporation commission, that the state of Texas could not issue a permit to a foreign corporation good for a longer period than the ninety days, unless the publication had been made as required by the laws of Arizona and an affidavit to that effect filed with the Arizona corporation commission; that the state longer than ninety days after the filing of its articles of incorporation without making a publication of its articles as required by the laws of that state and the filing of the affidavit of publication with the Arizona corporation commission; that the state longer than ninety days after the filing of its articles of incorporation without making a publication of its articles as required by the laws of that state and the filing of the affidavit of publication with the Arizona corporation commission.

Attorney General Looney stated today that it was not the intention of his department to institute proceedings against the offending corporations, but that ample time would be given to allow them to conform to the Texas statute stipulations. Concerns all over the state are affected.

GREAT DAMAGE AT BROOKELAND.

Several Persons are Injured and Buildings Destroyed.

Beaumont, Tex., March 13.—A cyclone struck this morning at 9:20 o'clock caused $100,000 damage at Brookeland and injured many residents of that place. It struck the southern edge of the town and completely demolished three residences in that section.

Brookeland is about 100 miles north of Beaumont on the Santa Fe. One negro, Peter Pliskin, a Santa Fe section hand, was killed, and Olyan, Jesse and Warren Sumner, a Santa Fe section hand, were seriously injured. Collins Stevens, a Santa Fe laborer, was badly injured about the head.

Indefinite reports received here by railroad officials coming to Beaumont from Brookeland are to the effect that many citizens suffered broken arms or limbs. The majority of these were taken to the hospital at Temple on the train leaving Brookeland at 9:40 o'clock.

Reports received here indicate that the occupants of the three small residences destroyed have not been accounted for. In addition to these residences the First Baptist church and the business place of the Sabine Mercantile company, both frame structures, were blown down, while many windows about town were smashed.

The Brookeland State bank was damaged. The Commercial hotel was twisted about six feet out of plumb with the street. A pine and oak grove of trees covering twenty-five acres, adjacent to town, was swept clean as if cut down with a scythe, and telephone and telegraph wires were razed for a radius of half a mile from the stricken section.

The section house and bunk house of the Santa Fe were demolished and four empty box cars were blown from the track and badly damaged.

Town Practically Wiped Out.

The greatest property damage and loss of life was reported in Provencal and Many, La. The town of Provencal practically was wiped out, many buildings were blown down and wire service demoralized. Only meagre reports from the stricken district were obtainable. Deaths, injuries and destruction of property were reported at Many.

Reports from Gadsden, Ala., told of one death, one person missing and destruction of property in Etowah and Cahoon counties. All wires in the path of the storm in that section were blown down or put out of commission by lightning.

Pleasant Grove, Tenn., in Maury county, was struck by the storm and it is thought the death list will amount to four persons at that place. Lexington and Co. Aiken, Tenn., are said to have suffered damage, although no loss of life has been reported.

In Mississippi some damage to property was reported at Tupelo, Corinth, Sallis and Guntown.

DEATH TOLL IN TENNESSEE.

Cyclone Kills Several and Causes Heavy Property Loss.

Nashville, Tenn., March 13.—A cyclone struck Pleasant Grove, Maury county, about 4 o'clock this afternoon, demolishing practically every house in the place and according to meagre telephone reports, killed three or four.

COLLEGE STUDENTS ON TRIAL

Four Sophomores Face Charge of Manslaughter Growing Out of Hazing Practices.

Hillsboro, N. C., March 13.—Twelve jurors were selected and the taking of testimony began here today in the trial of the four University of North Carolina sophomores, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Isaac William Rand, a freshman of the institution, who died while being hazed.

The students on trial are Ralph W. Oldham, Raleigh; Aubrey C. Hatch, of Mount Olive; Wm. L. Meriman, and Arthur H. Stryon, Wilmington.

Attempts by counsel for the prosecution and attorneys for the defendants to reach an agreement by which they could bring in a special verdict in the case failed today after two hours' conference.

Louisiana City in Darkness.

Shreveport, La., March 13.—About 8 o'clock fire, supposed to have started from crossed electric wires, destroyed the roof and a portion of the machinery of the Southwestern Gas Electric Light and Power plant here, putting the city in total darkness and stopping all industrial plants.

Both to Call Election.

Senator Futrell said he would at once call a special election to select his successor. Senator Oldham said he would call a special election "as soon as things get quieted down a little."

The situation is caused by the action of Governor Joe T. Robinson in hastily resigning Saturday, after which he hastened to Washington and was sworn in as United States senator, leaving his brother-in-law, Senator Oldham, in possession of his office.

The constitution provides that in case of the resignation of the governor or the president of the senate shall become acting governor, and if the vacancy occurs more than one year from the expiration of the term shall immediately call a special election to choose a governor.

It is the custom of the senate before adjournment to elect a president pro tem, who shall act as ex-officio lieutenant governor during the succeeding two years. In accordance with this custom the senate on Monday elected Senator Futrell president pro tem. He maintains that as he is now the president of the senate he is therefore acting governor. Senator Oldham asserts that he was president of the senate when the vacancy in the governor's office occurred and that therefore he became governor immediately upon Governor Robinson's resignation. The fact that his successor as president of the senate has been chosen, he maintains, has no bearing on the matter. In this contention he is upheld by the attorney general, who advised all the other state officials to recognize Senator Oldham as governor.

RAILROADS HAVE MODIFIED PLAN

UNION AND SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANIES DISSOLUTION UNDER WAY.

OUTLINES NEW AGREEMENT

Julius Kruttschnitt Approves Traffic Contract Without Trackage Privileges—Hearing Saturday.

New York, March 13.—The Southern Pacific company with the concurrence of the Union Pacific railroad company today announced a modified plan of dissolution under the United States supreme court decree in place of the original plan, which recently met with serious opposition on the part of the California railroad commission.

The new plan, as outlined by Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific, substantially provides for a trackage agreement without trackage privileges to the Union Pacific and Central Pacific.

Southern Pacific is willing to carry Union Pacific-Central Pacific traffic over the Pacific coast and the California terminals instead of allowing those roads direct use of these cut-offs and Southern Pacific terminals.

"The modified agreement," said Mr. Kruttschnitt, "will be submitted to the circuit court in the St. Louis district today, and a complete set of details have been telegraphed to the California commission." The agreement, it was stated, has the approval of Attorney-General McReynolds.

Chairman Kruttschnitt's announcement came at the end of a day of unproductive activity at local headquarters of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific lines. Some intimation of its import became known in stock market circles shortly before the close and was followed by a spurt in the so-called Harriman shares.

Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific, declined to comment on the new plan, but it was intimated that a statement will be issued after a meeting of the Union Pacific directors tomorrow.

Failure of the federal court and the California commission to accept the new plan by Saturday night will involve forfeiture of $1,250,000, which the Union Pacific agreed to pay an international syndicate organized by Kuhn, Loeb & company, to finance the sale of its Southern Pacific holdings, amounting to $125,000,000.

men. Among those killed was George Williamson, a prominent farmer. Smith brothers' general store was completely destroyed.

The Louisville and Nashville depot was blown into shreds, but a number of passengers at the depot at the time, waiting for a train, were uninjured. A train was lost on the Duck River branch of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and so far efforts to locate it have been unsuccessful, as all wires are down.

All creeks are out of their banks, telegraph wires are down and much damage to property done. Passengers on incoming trains report that the cyclone struck Lexington, Tenn., about 2:30 o'clock, destroying the Scott hotel, damaging the court house and demolishing about fifteen residences.

At a point below Lexington, a Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad station was moved from one side of the track to the other. Traffic was interrupted.

A cyclone also is reported to have struck Camden, Benton county, but the damage has not been learned. A general rain and windstorm swept all middle Tennessee today.

BABY ONE OF THREE KILLED.

Cyclone Destroys Buildings and Injures Many Persons.

New Orleans, March 13.—According to reports reaching here late today, three persons were killed in a cyclone which struck Many, La., this afternoon. Several were reported injured.

Thomas Goodman and his baby were killed when their home was blown away. One child of Bud Manasco was killed and several members of the family injured when their home was demolished.

A dispatch tonight from Meridian, Miss., says railroad reports received there are that Sattilo and Guntown, in Lee County, Mississippi, were struck by a cyclone today. Several persons are reported injured.

LOSES HIS LEGS; IS UNHURT

Wm. Fitting, 19, Saves Life of Woman and Is Minus Own Limbs Again.

Westbury, L. I., March 13.—William Fitting, a 19-year-old boy, lost both of his legs for a second time yesterday. The first time was four years ago when he fell under a Long Island railroad train near the station at Glen Head.

On artificial limbs he was standing at the station here yesterday when he saw a woman crossing the tracks in front of an express train. Recalling the accident which had befallen him he shouted a warning to the woman, but she did not heed, and young Fitting stumped his way to the tracks and dragged her from danger, only to fall himself across the rails. Other persons on the platform saw the lad and rushed to him, endeavoring to find him fatally hurt, and he was picked up legless, but not in the least wounded.

The locomotive wheels had only broken off his wooden legs.

PATIENTS SHOW IMPROVEMENT.

Flagler's Condition Improves.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 13.—The condition of Henry M. Flagler, owner of the Florida East Coast railroad, who has been confined to his home here for some time, is reported good. Rumors are still current that Mr. Flagler fractured his hip in a fall down two steps of the Flagler home, but no confirmation of the report can be secured.

Castro's Visit Does Not Concern.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 13.—No importance is attached here to the visit of Cipriano Castro to the United States and reports of his alleged intentions. The statement of President Wilson concerning Central and South American republics is favorably commented upon in all circles.

Eleven Believed Drowned.

New York, March 13.—Eleven men are missing, all believed to have been drowned, as the result of a harbor collision in which a steam lighter, the Wyckoff, was run down off Governor's Island and cut in two by an unidentified vessel thought to be a laden tug which labored on its course.

Head adviser—R. H. McGill, No. 1, Dallas.

Head banker—Will A. Harris, No. 855, Point, Tex.

Head clerk—H. Russell, No. 703, Mineral Wells.

Head escort—Will P. Bandy, No. 604, Pecos.

Head watchmen—S. J. Flood, No. 6, Waco.

Head sentry—William T. Brady, No. 37, Georgetown.

Head managers—Ernest Keathley, No. 244, Colorado; G. M. Ledford, No. 502, Amarillo; T. F. Temple, No. 467, Weatherford; W. E. Bowen, No. 391, Cullpeper; Oscar Otis, No. 12, Gainesville.

So great was the number of candidates for the sovereign camp delegation and also such a large number of delegates, the count was not completed at the morning session. It was announced at the afternoon session.

Prize Drill Winners.

Coliseum, Fort Worth, night.

First prize, Farmersville Camp team, with percentage of 95 points.

Second prize, Blue Ridge Camp team, with percentage of 93 points.

Third prize, Big Springs Camp team, with percentage of 91 points.

Fourth prize, Lagow camp team, with percentage of 90 points.

The Farmersville team probably will attend the sovereign camp meeting at Jacksonville, Florida.

W. A. Fraser, who has championed the cause of the tuberculosis sanitarium from the time of its first proposal, stood on the stage of the Coliseum and addressed the Woodmen briefly, saying:

"Yesterday, when I asked you for $500 for the sanitarium, you gave $500 and more. This morning I am going to ask you to raise that to $10,000, not in the light of a demand, but as a grateful expression of the fact that you are here alive and well and not among the number whose distress we wish to relieve. I am going to stand here on this platform for fifteen minutes and every man in the whole bunch who thinks he can hit me with a dollar is welcome to try it!"

And they did. Like one man they dug down in their pockets and the speaker was showered with silver. Although almost painful were the blows, Fraser stood his ground manfully and acknowledged with bows his appreciation of their reply to his most original proposition. Others on the stage helped gather up the coins and when in a bunch made a large haul.

This with other large contributions of the morning, easily raised the fund to $10,000.

Pots and pans collect more dirt and grease than any other cooking utensil. The one best way of cleaning them is to use Gold Dust. Gold Dust not only takes off the outer dirt coating, but digs deep after germs and hidden particles, and makes them as spotlessly clean and sanitary as when new.

If you want your pots and pans so bright you can see your face in them—your pots and kettles spotless and germ-proof, use Gold Dust in cleaning. It will do the work, too, in half the time of the ordinary cleanser—and save most of your labor. Gold Dust does the bulk of the work alone—you merely assist it.

You can buy a large package of Gold Dust for 5 cents.

You simply cannot keep house properly without Gold Dust.

ARE ADJUSTING LOSSES

Insurance Companies Have Men Here Looking Over Debris of the Fire.

Anderson Getting Out Piano Remnants. Vesey Finds Fragile Things Unhurt.

Representatives and adjusters of the different insurance companies, who carried policies on the buildings destroyed by the recent fire and falling walls at Sixth and Austin are here and matters are rapidly being adjusted. There were many who expressed doubt as to whether the companies would make settlement for damage by falling walls or not. But in some cases the companies have already paid the owners and no trouble is anticipated in any case. The following are some of the adjusters in the city looking after the interests of their companies:

Sam Buckalew and Jack Buckalew, with Trezevant & Cockran, of Dallas; Joe S. Berkshire, Connecticut Fire Insurance company, of Dallas; George Easley, of Cockran-Thomas, Dallas; W. D. Slayton, Slayton Adjustment company, Dallas; S. R. Cole, Bate Adjustment company; Alphonse Kenyon of Beers-Kennison, of Dallas; Chas. T. Davidson, of the Independent Adjusting company, of Dallas; John Burke, of Cravens and Cage, Houston.

Manager Anderson, of Hafner & Anderson, was in his overalls yesterday with a force of men getting out the piano remnants. He settled with the adjusters on the loss of that part of his establishment and is now gathering up the strings, the wires, the keys, etc., that will be sorted and taken care of as so much junk or for whatever purpose it can be used.

Vesey Electric company has moved into the Cameron building in the same block. As the workmen are removing the debris in his former store, he is gathering up the fragments of his electrical stock. The remarkable thing about it is that so much of the fragile stuff came out unhurt. He has a number of ornamental domes of colored glass that were rescued from the debris without a scratch. Electric globes and fancy things of pretty design have been taken out and are without a break or bend. Two big, strong men went down beneath the weight of the bricks and mortar, but these fragile, inanimate things which a few dollars could replace, came out undamaged and remain commercial articles in the world of trade. It is one of the unexplained things of great disasters.

James Riley, in charge of the property of the Bruestadt estate, has a force of men at work taking down the walls of his building. These walls must be taken down a brick at a time, and it will be long tedious work. Workmen are busy taking the debris from the streets, and the work of clearing will soon be finished so that the rebuilding can commence.

Wilson to Meet Republicans. President Ready Starts Campaign for Support.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson today began his campaign for the support of Progressive Republicans in the next congress. He arranged to consult with Senator La Follette at the white house tomorrow night.

The president will consult the Republican group in congress freely and endeavor to obtain their aid. While the advice of the progressive Republicans is made in a statement respect to legislation, the president may lend a ready ear, it is said, to the recommendations which they may make for appointments.

STOCK EXCHANGE OBJECTS.

Sulzer's Blyls Drew Criticism From Members. New York, March 13.—Sharp criticism of some of the bills before the legislature at Albany for regulation of stock exchanges is made in a statement given out tonight by the New York stock exchange over the signatures of its counsel, John G. Milburn and Walter F. Taylor.

Especially strong is the opposition to the bill requiring brokers to deliver to customers a memorandum of sales setting forth the hour and minute at which the transactions took place. Such legislation is termed "as absurdity."

GET WACO'S NAME UP.

We call attention to this extract from the report of Mr. Crate Dalton, chairman of the agencies location committee of the Young Men's Business League, made to the annual organization meeting of the league Monday night:

During our tenure as committee we have written thirty-four letters relative to locating agencies, schools, and like institutions in Waco. We have met with some encouragement, and feel that our work will yet be productive of results in our line. We beg, however, to call your attention to the condition which we believe should in some way be eliminated, and which when eliminated will make it much easier for the committee which follow us to obtain results. We have sought the location of numerous agencies which have seemingly taken up the matter with certain bankers and large real estate holders in the city, and have in some way met with adverse reports relative to the possibility of the furtherance of a successful business in this locality. We believe that our business men should be impressed with the idea that the bringing of a new industry or agency to this city does not in any way hurt any industry or agency now here. Our trade territory is a large one, and it has not been developed as it should be by reason of the fact that we have not a city where competitive industries and agencies are concentrated. In other words, we believe that if there can be competitive agencies or industries of any nature brought into our city, it will help materially in broadening our trade territory and bringing Waco to her own as a trade center. We would therefore recommend that our business men be shown, if possible, that these conditions do exist and that they are hurtful and that the incoming administrations make an effort insofar as possible to remove all obstacles to the bringing of a new industry or agency to this city. We would recommend further that as a means of obtaining this end the incoming agency committee be asked to write letters to such manufacturers as are looking to the Southwest as a distributing point, by letters addressed to them, wherein all logical locations of Waco and conditions existing in and around Waco be clearly outlined with the view of bringing such agencies to our city. This is a matter of especial interest in view of the fact that the opening of the Panama canal means a development in this section of the country that will literally sweep us from our feet unless we prepare ourselves to meet the demands of a territory developing with unprecedented rapidity.

That statement and that recommendation are strong, and in the spirit that has made the league a leading factor in Waco's progress. It appears, just as the Morning News suggested in its first editorial on publicity for Waco, that a grave obstacle in the way of community betterment is the antiquated and detrimental spirit of self-sufficiency. The league's agency committee is absolutely right—this condition, this self-sufficiency, must be cut from Waco's business. It matters not how many thousands of dollars the men of Waco may possess, if they will not put these dollars into buildings, factories, enterprises that carry payrolls, the money is useless in the upbuilding of Waco. It appears, just as the Morning News has believed for months, that the earnest efforts of such organizations as the league, and of progressive business men to attract new capital, new agencies, new businesses to Waco have been throttled—it might almost be said that prospective investors, prospective newcomers, have been victimized: victimized by those too narrow to understand that this city needs and wants every new agency, every new building, every new enterprise, every new bank account it can get.

The committee tells us that its efforts to locate numerous agencies in Waco have run afoul of adverse reports to the possible locators emanating from "certain bankers and large real estate holders in the city" as to "the possibility of the furtherance of a successful business in this locality." The committee believes, and its belief is the only sensible, city-building belief possible, "that our business men should be impressed with the idea that the bringing of a new industry or agency to this city does not in any way hurt any industry or agency now here."

Such a condition is deplorable. The Young Men's Business League could have received and acted on a no more illuminating, startling report than this. The small city in the grip of the land hog and the business hog is doomed to stand still, unless there arises a coterie of big business men who will take matters in their own hands and root out the evil. It is the worst deterrent of progress known. That spirit which considers it legitimate to "hold up" investors of outside capital for every dollar that can be wrung from them on real estate deals; that spirit which would shut the gates of the city's business to new enterprises, new taxes, new buildings, cannot too soon be eradicated from the commercial life of this city.

We congratulate the agency committee on its report. It is a powerful arraignment of a condition and a faction we knew existed in Waco. Get Waco's name up. Get Waco's name up independently of the efforts of the money-grubber who walks in darkness to keep it down. Get Waco's name up—let the agency committee, let every organized factor in the city unite to spread abroad true report of Waco's advantages. Invite new business, new capital. Make the invitation attractive—it need only be put truthfully and with public spirit to be attractive.

Let those who would shut out business from Waco be put out of position to impede the advancement of the whole city.

Advertise. Pursue a campaign of consistent, organized, expert publicity. This is no theory that confronts Waco: it is a most serious situation. The time is at hand for the progress, but to put the retarding factors and factions out of power to harm Waco.

CLEAN UP!

The second ordained "cleanup" day was bright, warm—beautifully adapted to renovation of premises and debussing of yards. The city looks much cleaner today, does it not? The credulous reader may be tempted to inquire in view of the introduction. If it were any laughing matter we would be tempted to answer in the words of Mr. Fred Stone: "Don't my lips are cracked."

The public is invited to inspect the public alley adjoining the premises occupied by the Morning News. The alley was paved a little while ago. A week ago the Morning News employed a negro with a team to remove all dirt and rubbish from its part of the lot in the rear of this building. Yesterday the place was as clean as at any time—papers and rubbish are thrown and blown on this lot from nearby shop premises every hour. Horses are still stood in the alley in violation of the ordinance. The police do not interfere. The animals are ruining the pavement with their iron shoes, and creating an unhealthy condition from a sanitary standpoint.

The Morning News makes this public complaint to the authorities in city hall, its private complaints having gone unheeded. The alley at this writing is covered with papers, rubbish, broken barrels, tin cans, packing cases, manure. Horses are hitched to the wire poles. Get busy in the heart of the business district!

Get busy! There is every reason why this "cleanup" day proclamation should not be treated as a joke. Taxes are paid for the maintenance of sanitary, police and fire prevention operations in Waco. Get busy!

Texas Viewpoints

Lost Trail.
Every business man and citizen in McKinney says it is a shame we have no commercial organization of any kind and most of them are willing to help support one, but oh for a leader. —McKinney Courier-Gazette.

A community, especially a community that is doing its best to grow in the great Southwest where the struggle still is a struggle for population and capital behind public necessities, must have a commercial organization to succeed along any line. Without such an organization the town is like a small boy on a summer afternoon ramble—it gets nowhere. Without the B. M. C. and the Y. M. B. L. Waco would not have progressed with in fifty per cent of its present achievement. The cry for a commercial association is going up from every Texan town fortunate in the possession of enough intelligent, progressive citizens who have watched the results won by these bodies in other cities to realize the need at home. As for a McKinney organizer, it occurs to us that Editor Perkins would quite fill the bill. If he still retains his ability in this line manifested in his senate days.

Value of Public Letters.
The Times Herald cannot notice anonymous communications. Persons who refuse to sign their names to communications sent this newspaper must expect to be ignored. The name of the writer is not always necessary to publication, but should be signed as an evidence of good faith. —Dallas Times Herald.

Even when the name is signed to a communication with the request not to publish the name, the letter to the public cannot have its full value. A short time ago the Morning News had occasion to use such a communication in connection with an editorial on a topic of live local interest. The name was withheld by request, and three reputable citizens expressed the opinion that this newspaper deviated from its rule not to publish anonymous communications by reason of its desire to reinforce its own position in the premises. The signed letter was shown them. It is difficult to understand why any person able to write an interesting and useful letter on a matter of public concern should object to the authorship being known. The signature gives weight and responsibility to the subject in hand and frequently is indispensable to relieve the publication medium from the suspicion of "merely boosting its own game."

Decent Depots.
As a starter for civic beautifying it might be a good idea to make that vacant place around the union depot a thing of beauty, in place of the nightmare that it is now. The stranger passing through Terrell and on arriving in the town sees the very worst of the place. It might not be a bad idea to change that thing—Terrell Transcript.

The demand appearing generally in Texas press for improvement of railroad station premises is not so much for beautification as for adequate accommodations and clean keeping by those in charge. Anti-spitting ordinances are ignored. Smoking is often tolerated in the women's waiting room. Space for checking and lavatory facilities is altogether too restricted. Floors are dirty in many of the older stations, ventilation poor. Approaches to many stations, especially in wet weather, are a serious inconvenience in addition to being an eyesore. The public is not unreasonable in its demands. A railroad station is a public place and should be made as clean and convenient as conditions of travel and traffic at the particular station will permit.

Country Curiosity.
The Messenger editor at May is complaining that thoughtless boys of his town are handicapping his efforts to get out a creditable paper when they carry off his type and press wrenches. The boys ought to be more considerate. Most many newspaper offices have more than they need anyway, and when a crowd of school boys invade the office and help themselves from the convenient cases it puts the editor out of "sorts." —Brownwood Bulletin.

Are those boys really "thoughtless," or are they inspired? Editors occasionally use the hammer and some have been called plumbers, but a newspaper shop cannot be operated like the Cambridge bard's village smithy, for the benefit of the local yokel youth. Let the May printer daub his material liberally with ink.

Human Nature.
Were dumped into this game of life, though maybe not to blame: But, whether we are pleased or not, we have to play the game. —Dallas News Winkler.

And those who play the game the least are always first to howl! When earnest fellow-players show resentment at a foul.

Waco Girls and Candy.
(State Press, Dallas News.)
Waco Tribune: A Waco girl with a sweet tooth and a far sweeter face and voice tells the Tribune: "I am telling my young friends to buy me no more foreign-made chocolates—that is, if they want to keep in my good graces. I love candy, know good candy when I taste it and take it from me that Waco-made candies match any foreign-made." Here's to the "Waco Maid"—and Waco-made Home Industry First and all the time.

A fine girl, a dear girl and a girl to be loved is the Waco girl. There are, in fact, a lot of fine girls in Waco. State Press says to know some of them, and he is an authority in girlology. In fact he never saw a girl so lovely and beautiful. Yet he is moved to doubt if the young lady quoted by the Tribune is wholly ingenuous. It is believable that she would rebuff an otherwise agreeable young man who might dare to send her a box of Dallas Post or Fort Worth or Houston candy? Would she return unopened a package of confectionery coming by parcel post from Hillsboro or West or Temple or McGregor? Is it not possible, indeed, that she has thus advertised to attract offers from near-by or competing cities? Women, even in their teens, in these days of the feminist movement have learned to be crafty. They are as schemeful as rook-rum-polling politicians and as foxes as the picture grandpas. We never know exactly whether to regard a young woman as wholly guileless nowadays or fairly surcharged with tactical shrewdness. Confessedly, the ladies have got us guessing. We are since they are a class better and more equipped than it is impossible to claim that they are a little smooth courting and a few inexpensive compliments. What in the name of goodness has become of the old-fashioned blushing girl in a calico dress who wanted nothing in the world so much as an eligible sweetheart, and who was happy over the gift from him of a candy heart inscribed with a tender sentiment?

Honor to "Bob" Henry.
(Dallas Times Herald.)
Prominent Texans paid tribute to Congressman R. L. Henry at a banquet given in that gentleman's honor at Waco last evening. And the unique feature of the whole affair is that Congressman Henry merits the good things said of him. While differing with the distinguished gentleman on numerous occasions, the Times Herald has found him to be a man of ideas as well as one with ideals, and for that in all times had the courage to maintain his position. No weak-kneed sister is this "Bob" Henry, and his neighbors honor themselves in honoring him.

Another Phantasm.
(Austin Statesman.)
A San Angelo man came to Austin to stay two hours, and was so well pleased that he remained two weeks. A Hillsboro man went to Waco for a beer, then to Austin after having been there three hours, and he never would give Waco the high sign hereafter. Colonel Harris of the Waco News remained in Waco five and a half months, and now confesses that it will take him ten years to regain his equilibrium and proper manner. Waco ought to bury its mossbacks, like Austin has done.

Jury Acquits Man at Houston.
Houston, March 13.—E. A. Hogue was acquitted on instructions from the federal court of white slavery charges late yesterday afternoon. He was charged with aiding a woman to come from Milwaukee to Texas for immoral purposes.

SPRING AND SUMMER OPENINGS

SPRING AT SANGERS' IS A GREAT EVENT

WOMEN IN LARGE NUMBERS COME TO SEE THE NEW OF THE SEASON.

Attractive Things in Hats and Suits That Are a Delight to All.

"When spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil," the fancy of the women turns to the changes of the styles in frocks, in millinery and in colors, and they await the announcement of the opening with eagerness and delightful anticipations. The fact that Easter comes earlier this year than it has come in the memory of the present day women folks has caused them to hasten themselves sooner than usual, and to prepare for the day of new things which comes ten days hence. The announcement of the openings yesterday drew many to the streets of the city. They were out in numbers early, and some spent the day in "beast shopping" and the Sangers stores were crowded. It was a magnificent day, following the drizzle and cold of the early part of the week, the elements being kind to those who fashione the display as well as to those who came to look.

The show windows of the big store were the first attraction to catch the eye of those who were on inspection. The most attractive gowns, hats, shoes, etc., were displayed, and in an artistic manner. These held the attention awhile, but on such an occasion the show window shopping does not satisfy those who want to touch the fabric, to rest the eye upon the immediate color or to fit and "try on" that which appeals most to the individual. Attractive things in hats, hosiery, ribbons and fancy articles were displayed on the ground floor and had some of the attention. It was up stairs in "millinery parlors" that proved most interesting and entertaining to those who wandered through the maze and gathered with the crowds. It is the beginning of the Sangers' first year, and with the growth that has come from year to year the display has been more elaborate each time until now it presents a wealth of color, a multiplicity of things to wear and a newness in design that the humble wayfarer of the men's world is lost in the strangeness which he finds in woman's realm.

There were hats to the right of him and hats to the left of him and hats all about him. Each of these shapes had a name and to each separate shape there were several colors, numerous things of light and airy substance that added to the grace and dignity and beauty of the "pattern," and every one had its own peculiar fascination for the various women who were there to select. A handsome blonde found this kind of thing, the brunette found the other. The most delicate shades were employed to give the artistic color to some, and then again there was the deep, deep red, or the dark blue to harmonize with the character of the material that was used ## NO APPROPRIATION AT THIS SESSION

GENERAL MONEY BILL CANNOT GET THROUGH BEFORE LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

TO QUIT NOW IN A WEEK

Paulus, Watson and Willacy Behind Movement to Close Next Friday. Special Court Bills.

Austin, March 13.—Developments in the senate today indicated that a concerted campaign will be made there to force adjournment of the legislature March 21 instead of April 1, as the house agreed on. Among those behind this movement are Paulus, Watson and Willacy. The last vestige of hope of the passage of a general appropriation bill in the regular session is gone. Governor Colquitt is as yet undecided whether or not he will reconvene the legislature immediately.

The house appointed Humphrey, Bagby, Ross and Coffey to co-operate with Senators Hudspeth, Vaughan, Lattimore and Watson in drafting a congressional redistricting bill in a free conference committee.

Great difficulty is being had in reconciling the eastern and Central Texas districts.

Governor Colquitt returned for correction the bill creating the Grayson county special district court. He will veto it, unless the bill provides that the court shall cease to exist December 1, 1914.

Eight Special District Courts.

The attorney general is drafting for him a bill providing a special district court for each of the eight supreme judicial districts, to expire with his administration. He proposes that wherever the county commissioners in a county during the next two years shall make affidavit that assistance is needed, a special term of court may be ordered by him to clear up matters. He believes he can clear all dockets in Texas under this system.

Governor Colquitt said that he would examine the marital rights bill adopted by the legislature very closely before approving it.

Governor Approves Bills.
Governor Colquitt today approved the first liquor regulation bills which he received from the legislature. They came in yesterday afternoon and were signed this morning. One makes it a penitentiary offense to sell liquor outside prescribed saloon districts in cities, another requires wholesale liquor dealers to pay taxes on all sales. Among the other bills, he approved were: Authorizing the comptroller to transfer certain funds now in the state treasury to the permanent school fund; creating independent school district bills; the general road law authorizing subdivisions of counties to issue bonds; and a Kaufman county road law.

Tax on Pistol Sales.
Senator Astin introduced in the senate today a bill providing that persons after securing a license may sell pistols outright in return for payment of a $10 occupation tax. The bill prohibits sale of pistols to persons under the influence of liquor or in great passion and provides that the man selling a pistol shall record the sale, together with the age, color and height and weight of the person to whom he sells it.

IN THE HOUSE.

Austin, Tex., March 13.—After a bit of opposition from Watson and Stephenson of Lufkin, the house of representatives today accepted the invitation of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce to visit Fort Worth as the guests of the Fort Worth body. The senate had accepted a similar invitation last night and the entire legislature left for Fort Worth tonight for a day's outing.

The joint rules of the Thirty-second legislature were adopted as the joint rules of the thirty-third this morning in the house and the free conference report on the pension bill, placing in effect the pension tax amendment recently adopted, and allowing each Confederate pensioner eight and a third dollars a month as a pension, was adopted.

The free conference committee report on marital rights bill—a report which was then called up in the house and strenuous opposition to it at once developed. Wagstaff moved that the bill be sent back to the committee with instructions to take from the bill those sections allowing married women to contract their separate property being liable. Bagby, in a strong speech, took the position that the husband's property might also be incurred by the contract of his wife. After a lengthy argument in favor of the Wagstaff amendment, he was liberally applauded.

Although Bagby argued great sentiment, it was too late to swing the house back to his side and the woman's property rights bill was finally passed by a vote of 74 to 18.

McNealus' stream pollution bill was finally passed after Bruce failed to write into the bill the coast city exemption which was stricken out yesterday.

The senate bill by Vaughan, authorizing telephone companies to buy out competing companies, was engrossed after an attempt by Lewelling to make such consolidation depend upon the vote of the people to be affected, failed. An amendment by Mills, providing against any increase in rates after the consolidation, was accepted.

In the house, Woods of Navarro, Chrestman, Rowell, Craven and Harris were appointed on the penitentiary investigation committee.

The house engrossed the Wagstaff bill, providing vendor lien to elapse four years after becoming due; the bill for validation of deeds made voidable by the disability of coverture after two years, finally passed; the senate bill restricting the authority of the attorney general and requiring county and district attorneys to answer certain questions now propounded by the attorney general's department; permitting fire, lightning, and storm insurance companies; allowing cities to condemn on navigable streams property twenty miles up or down the stream to prevent wharfage monopoly; engrossed the Savage bill curing defects in the felony gambling statutes and engrossed the Mendel bill providing for the redemption of land sold for taxes.

In the night session of the house the following senate bills were passed to a third reading: Watson-Bailey bill, increasing salaries of judges of supreme courts, courts of civil and criminal appeals; the house amended the senate bill which allowed judges $4,500 to allow them only $4,000; Townsend's wife desertion bill; McNealus' bill authorizing interurbans to build office buildings; creating a new district court for Navarro county; permitting sanitariums to own real estate; the Lattimore land relief bill; permitting cities to sell park property for the use of railroads; providing an experiment station in the cross timbers section of the state, and the bill creating a district court for Montgomery, Chambers, Hardin, San Jacinto and Polk counties.

Lewelling and Speaker Terrell had a sharp combat of words because Terrell told Lewelling he was trying to follow dilatory tactics.

IN THE SENATE.

Austin, Tex., March 13.—The senate this morning first disposed of local bills passing road laws for Hunt, Brazoria and Freestone counties and the Hutchins, Dallas county, and Sonora, Sutton county independent school district acts.

An invitation from El Paso to attend the Cattlemen's Convention was given by Senator Hudspeth and thanks were returned for it.

Consideration then began of the Hudspeth general mining law to encourage prospecting, development of mineral resources, etc.

First an amendment was adopted providing that 5 cents an acre a year shall be paid for prospecting rights on lands for a period of two years. Later this was made twenty cents an acre. This applies to state lands on which the state has reserved mineral rights.

There was then adopted an amendment that where oil or mineral is found the prospector as an operator shall pay two dollars an acre for a lease of 10 years, with right of renewal, and that he shall give to the state one-eighth of the gross value of the output as royalty.

Hudspeth's mining bill was finally passed by a vote of 23 to 4.

Wernert secured the adoption of his concurrent resolution on the indeterminate sentence, which designates a commission to visit the state prisons and make recommendations of parole and pardon to the governor.

Other measures passed were Davis' bill authorizing counties to levy a tax for park purposes; Brelsford's exempting Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. prop-

BRYAN GIVES VIEWS

SECRETARY SPEAKS AT AMERICAN REPUBLICS REPRESENTATIVES' RECEPTION.

Brazilian Ambassador Pays Nebraskan Tribute With Words, "Man of Noble Heart."

Washington, March 13.—Secretary Bryan who, as head of the state department, is chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, sat down to dinner tonight in Washington in the Pan-American building with the representatives of the twenty other American republics, which, with the United States, compose the union. They were the guests of John Barrett, director general of the international organization. Mrs. Bryan was present and most of the diplomats were accompanied by their wives.

Other guests included Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of President Wilson; the assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Huntington Wilson; Assistant Secretary of State, Adair and Representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs. After the dinner there was a reception.

In welcoming Secretary Bryan, the Brazilian ambassador said:

"We bid welcome to the man with a noble heart, who for so many years has been preaching the advent of social justice, of respect to the rights of the individuals of reciprocity and good will among men."

Secretary Bryan said that when his present office was tendered him, one of the reasons he gave for being willing to accept was that it would enable him to join with the president in cementing even more closely those nations that live so near together and are so identical in their purpose and aspirations.

"I am glad to assure you," said the secretary, "of the pacific purpose and of the genuine friendship which the president of our great nation entertains toward all the people and all the countries of Central and South America and to assure you that I am in complete sympathy with him in this friendship and in this interest. We desire that our exports to your country shall increase and that our imports from your countries shall increase, but I believe the most valuable thing that can be sent across the border of nations is an ideal."

"I am sure that this administration will be quick to admonish all who go among you that they go to represent the highest ideals of our country and that they must not fall below the standard."

erty from taxation and the free conference committee report on Murray's Cuero dam bill.

Meeting of Committees.

The first meeting of the free conference committee of the house and senate on the Alamo was held tonight. Owing to the fact that house members were going to Fort Worth, the senate members refused to continue the hearing in which Mrs. Hal Sevier and Miss Adena De Zavalla were clashing rather harshly. There was no evidence of change on either side of the question.

The house committee on labor has reported favorably the Collins senate bill on employer's liability and workmen's compensation.

BROWNIES TANGLE WITH COLLEGIANS

GAME AT CARROLL FIELD THIS AFTERNOON—CORNICANA BATTLE IS POSTPONED.

BAYLOR TEAM IN CONDITION

Glaze's Athletics Will Buck Waco Navigators at Katy Park Saturday Afternoon.

The game scheduled yesterday between the St. Louis Browns and the Corsicana canceled. Stovall's aggregation put in a hard day's work at Cotton Palace park, while the sun was shining so bright, in preparation for the series of games at Houston and Beaumont Saturday and Sunday. The postponed game between the Baylor University boys and the Browns will be played off at Carroll Field at 4:15 this afternoon. Rain stopped the scheduled game Wednesday.

Stovall very likely will send the major portion of his youngsters against Glaze's collection of collegians. The probable line-up for Baylor will be Story, shortstop; Collier, second base; Williams, first base; McMahon, third base; Franklin, left field; Smith, center field; Wileman, right field; Emory and Hendenball, catcher; McConnell and Henry, pitchers.

If Stovall's men are in no better condition than they were when the last exhibition game was played with the Navigators last Tuesday, the collegians may give them a good game. McConnell and Henry are said to be both good pitching material and with a coach who knows the game like Ralph Glaze, Baylor will have an exceedingly strong college team.

Saturday the Baylor boys will go against the Waco club. The game will be played at Katy park. The college season opens here March 21 and 22, when the Baylorites go against the Polytechnic college of Fort Worth. The way the schedule is now arranged Baylor has ten games at home and twelve on foreign territory.

YANKEES LOVE BERMUDA CAMP

Chance Delighted With Island That Likely Will Be Permanent Training Place.

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 13.—It is more than probable that Bermuda will be the Yankees' permanent spring training quarters. Although it is a bit early to figure on what weather the future may hold or how it may affect the players, the conditions to date have been so propitious that a continuance of the same would undoubtedly bring this about.

Business Manager Arthur Irwin and Manager Chance are delighted with the place, and the players also share their views. The conditions are so much superior to those met in the south that there appears to be only one choice. Irwin has traveled all over the country as a scout and player and he is one of the best informed baseball men in the land. He declares he has never seen any place that could match it. This being the first time a big leaguer here this spring and the whole thing is, of course, more or less of an experiment.

It is also probable that other clubs may seek to come here, for the present experiment is being watched closely by them. One club planned to send its pitchers here this spring and have come so could they have found a suitable training ground.

GIANTS COMING WEDNESDAY

Will Play Exhibition Game With Waco Navigators—McGraw Will Bring Veterans.

The New York Giants are coming to Waco for an exhibition game. This announcement was made yesterday by Manager Tom Carson of the Waco club. He was speaking from direct information in the way of a letter from John McGraw, who said he would bring his veterans here next Wednesday.

This is an important date for the Navigators and in the middle of the week when the fans should take advantage of seeing the greatest baseball organization in the National League. After seeing Connie Mack's men here yesterday the bugs can look McGraw's aggregation over and get a line on the dark horses in the two major leagues.

BASEBALL PRICES MAY INCREASE

President of Brooklyn League Gives View.

New York, March 13.—The "high cost of baseball" is receiving attention in Brooklyn, for the present mainly by President Charles H. Ebbetts of the Brooklyn National league club, but the matter is likely to concern the next summer. Ebbetts has decided to do away with practically all the 25 cent seats when he opens his new baseball stadium.

A clause in the National league constitution provides for 25 cent seats, but the number is not stipulated and it is understood that the Brooklyn grounds the number of these will be reduced. "Baseball is the public's luxury," declared Ebbetts, "and with the provision of the finest accommodations, it is natural that prices must go up all around. In line with this idea of luxury it is announced that a new 'umbrella room' will be in the management will provide several thousand umbrellas which will be loaned to patrons on rainy days. Ebbetts says he is willing to try this experiment if only to learn how many persons will forget to bring the umbrellas back.

O'Neill To Play With Cleveland.

Pensacola, Fla., March 13.—The last of the holdouts of the Cleveland Americans reached here today when Catcher Steve O'Neill, who had demanded a higher salary, reported to Manager Birmingham. Nick Cullop also put in an appearance today. The players did not have the usual workout, taking a trip across the bay as guests of citizens.

WACO FANS CHEER GREATEST BASEBALL CLUB WHEN CONNIE MACK'S ATHLETICS PLAY HERE

The greatest aggregation of ball players ever congregated on Katy Park diamond was seen here yesterday when the veterans of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, under the leadership of Danny Murphy, easily walked away with the game with Carson's Navigators. The score was 9 to 2, and if the Athletics had kept up the pace they started in the first inning a mathematics would still be figuring for the total score.

The team work and batting, coupled with sensational fielding, simply astonished the Waco fans, but after the third inning the Athletics stopped the pace, so far as the batting was concerned, and the stop was most, but not quite as sudden as when the Pullman car which brought the Quakers from Austin to Waco early yesterday morning uncoupled from the train and crashed into the next sleeper when the engineer brought the train to stop. Several of the players were thrown out of their berths, but no one was injured save J. W. Gantz, correspondent for the Philadelphia Press, and Frank L. Hough, correspondent for the Enquirer.

Eddie Murphy waited out Murphy, the recruit Carson sent against the Athletics, and walked. He took second on a wild pitch and a cheer greeted Oldring when he selected an oversized club and stepped to the plate.

He seemed to like the left-hand delivery of Murphy and smashed the first ball pitched over the left fence for the longest hit ever made on the local diamond. It went clear across the street and bumped against a brick wall. Collins, the crack second sacker of the American league, walked and gave way for Home-run Baker and the crowd went wild with cheers. Evidently Murphy had some fear of what he would do to the ball and he passed him. Stuffy McInnis was the next man up. Collins had already stolen second and Baker took second and Collins went to third when McInnis laid the ball down the third base line. Walsh hit to the infield and Baker was only a few feet behind Collins when they both scored. Barry sacrificed, Walsh coming home on the play.

This ended the scoring until the third inning when Walsh hit too hard to short for McMahon to handle and Barry was safe. Lapp scored both runners on a bingle to right field and Plank scored him on a double to left field.

Crosby is the only Waco player who succeeded in repeating his performance when he came to bat the second time and Harrell was pitching.

MANIGOF READY FOR BOUT

Greek vs. Greek in Finished Wrestling Contest at the Auditorium Theatre Tonight.

Bob Manigof, a jovial, good natured wrestler, dropped off at the Katy depot yesterday and proceeded to allow Waco patrons of the wrestling game to take a squint at his mammoth mug, which would win a permanent berth in the 300 pound average in a contest for the "unhandsome" wrestler living, but that is the least of Bob's troubles. He is trying to figure some way to win a couple of falls from his old time opponent, Bill Demetral.

This pair hooks up in a finished contest at the Auditorium theatre tonight and it is going to be Greek against Greek. Although Bob does not hate from the miniature and mighty "Isles of Greece" his features could not be mistaken in the dark.

From all appearance of the wrestlers this match should be one of the leading bouts staged in the southwest for many months. Demetral holds the scales near the 200 mark and Manigof will be a little over that figure. Manigof came here from Chicago and Demetral arrived from Los Angeles. The latter may stay over here until next week for a bout with Adolph Ernst in the event he can win from Manigof, and Manigof will likely pursue the same plan in the event he wins and the managers can come to terms. Demetral is booked in Detroit March 21 and in Buffalo the following Wednesday.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB TO MEET

Will Perfect Reorganization to Stimulate Interest in Pop-Pop Machines in Waco.

A meeting will be held at the Waco Auto and Supply company tonight for the purpose of electing officers for the Waco Motorcycle club. On March 6 a meeting was held to reorganize the club, with the result that W. H. Montz was elected temporary chairman and Sidney Rodgers secretary.

The purpose of the club is to get together and plan ways to stimulate motorcycleists starting a movement to hold a statewide meeting somewhere in Texas. Waco was mentioned as the logical place on account of its central location. Immediately on reorganizing the club this matter will be given consideration.

SMITH AND WELLS READY.

Managers of Both Claim Fighters in Good Condition.

New York, March 13.—With the exception of some light exercise, planned for today "Gunboat" Smith, the California heavyweight, who is to box Bombardier Wells, the English champion tomorrow, has finished his training.

The only score made by Waco came in the seventh inning when Critchlow was sent in to relieve Stewart. He hit to center for a single and on the next play the Waco runners made a double steal, largely due to signals being crossed. Renard scored both players on a single to right field.

The grandstand was about half filled with enthusiastic fans who journeyed to the park to see the Quakers in action. The only other players carried by Danny Murphy not used in the game were Brown, Chief Bender, Fennock and Strunk.

The Athletics left last night for Fort Worth for a game today and will go to Dallas for games Saturday and Sunday. The game with Corsicana was cancelled.

The score in detail:

MARQUARD CAUSES MERRIMENT

McGraw Announces "The Rube" Will Join Club at Marlin—Players Celebrate.

Marlin, Tex., March 13.—The Giants training camp was like a circus today when McGraw made the official announcement that Rube Marquard was coming to camp as fast as he could talk his wife—newly-made wife, for he was married Wednesday—into the notion of putting all her hats and bonnets into boxes and hitting the trail.

Word reached here last night that Marquard had signed a double contract, one to return to the Giants and the other to marry "Blossom Seelye" to an occasion to celebrate because Marquard had taken a wife. Marquard was never a very popular man with the Giants until he annexed those nineteen straight games last season and put New York in the lead for the pennant. He added some to his popularity when he pitched the Giants to victory twice over the Boston Red Sox in the world's series last fall.

The cause of the merriment might have been due to the announcement that Rube would join the club, and it might have been just because the boys had an occasion to celebrate because Marquard had taken a wife. Marquard was never a very popular man with the Giants until he annexed those nineteen straight games last season and put New York in the lead for the pennant. He added some to his popularity when he pitched the Giants to victory twice over the Boston Red Sox in the world's series last fall.

CALLS IT FAKE WRITEUPS

American League President Gives Reasons for Not Wanting Players to Write.

Chicago, March 13.—President R. B. Johnson, of the American league, made public today the circular letter which he has addressed to all of the club owners in the organization regarding the practice of ball players contributing stories to newspapers. It is the purpose of Mr. Johnson to have the players give up their connection with newspapers. In part the letter reads: "The growth of baseball in the last few years and the growing interest created, have brought to the sporting departments of newspapers some of the best talent in the field. It is to the advantage of every interest that this class of report be discontinued.

This sport cannot be attained if their work is not remunerative. The players' action in encroaching in the work of these workers is exceedingly harmful upon the reportorial branch of the sport.

"The articles that appear with players' names attached are seldom of their own creation and are therefore an imposition on the public. Opposition to this fake journalism has already been taken concrete form and unless some positive action is taken by the club owners they will be petitioned for relief."

President Johnson said he hoped that a similar action would be taken in the National league.

OXFORD MEN WIN BOAT RACE

Cambridge Leads Until Last Quarter Mile When Strength Weakens and They Are Passed.

Putney, Eng., March 13.—Oxford today won the annual eight-oared boat race from Cambridge. The victory was wrested from the light blues almost at the finishing post. The Cambridge men led for more than four miles of the four and a quarter length behind their opponents. The winners time was 26 minutes 53 seconds.

The light blues appeared to have the race at their mercy almost at the last minute. Then the weight and stamina of the Oxford oarsmen were exerted mightily. After a stern chase all the way to Barnes Bridge, a quarter of a mile from the finish, the dark blues made a wonderful spurt and in the most exciting finish witnessed in twenty years, breasted their rival a few lengths from home and then with their final effort pushed the nose of their shell in front with the last few strokes.

ATHLETICS WIN AT A. & M.

Farmers Take Short End of 8 to 1 Score—Parr Stars for College Boys.

College Station, March 13.—About 500 persons saw the Philadelphia Yankins defeat the Texas Farmers in an interesting and fast ball game here this afternoon. The final score was 8 to 1, but barring the first and fifth innings the game was close and full of interest.

For A. & M. Parr of the right garden, annexed two singles and a walk, cutting him to the hitting honors. A. & M. garnered four hits while the Athletics annexed fourteen. Moran worked Dick Miller and Bryant as twirlers. After the first inning Miller pitched good ball and gives promise of developing into a good college pitcher.

Wyckoff and Durning were sub-artists for Connie Mack. The athletics left tonight for Dallas. The score by innings:

Yankins	Farmers
450 126 616-8	450 126 616-1

A. & M. 450 126 616-8

Farmers 450 126 616-1

Fort Worth Recruit at Marlin Wants to Complete Education

Marlin, Tex., March 13.—Claude Cooper, the Texas Christian University student who has become a headliner by his clever work as a member of the squad of recruits training with the New York Giants, is a young man of the type apt to succeed in whatever calling he may choose.

He has not only shown good ball playing ability on the field but in the game and out of it he shows a greater and more important asset, and that is good breeding. He is modest and polite, and in his general demeanor the stamp of the true gentleman is readily observed. All the good things that have been said and written of him have been noticed by the young man with pardonable pride, and without any show of taking powder effect. He is particularly intelligent, his views are high and moral and the character of his conversation edifying and interesting.

Young Cooper by no means takes life in an easy going, don't care fashion. He fondly hopes for a bright career as a baseball player, but that is not his all absorbing ambition, for he has a determination to make good in other ways. In conversation with a correspondent today he spoke of his future plans, saying:

Coming Back to T. C. U. "I am learning a great deal about playing baseball from Mr. McGraw's instructions, and I hope I will be able to fulfill every desire he entertains for me during the training period. If the manager considers me with enough favor to accept me as a member of the New York Nationals after the practice season, I shall do my utmost to be of value to the club, and in return I shall surrender none of the ambition I have entertained for years with regard to my education. If I go with the Giants, I shall certainly return to Fort Worth as soon as the season is over and reenter the Texas Christian University. In the event of my enlistment with the New York Nationals I would have an opportunity to attend the school for a period of four months each year, and I would continue this plan until my schooling is completed. At the past season I was a sophomore, and it will require three or four years, in view of the short time I would be able to attend to finish the academic course. I completed the commercial course last year."

Bill Authorizes Boxing in Utah. Salt Lake City, March 13.—Without a dissenting vote, a bill legalizing fifteen-round boxing bouts passed the senate today. The bill provides for a boxing commission and is copied after the New York law.

SENATE OPPOSES GOVERNOR.

Oklahoma Body Makes Futile Effort to Pass Bills.

Oklahoma City, March 13.—The state senate made a futile effort today to pass over the governor's veto the two and one-fourths cents passenger fare bill; the bill abolishing the state enforcement officer, and the bill stripping the governor of the power to appoint and remove the warden of the state penitentiary.

The senate succeeded in passing over the governor's veto the bill requiring railroads to maintain within the state certain facilities. This bill applies only to roads collecting hospital dues from employees.

Four Juries Chosen. Dallas, Tex., March 13.—Two additional juries have been selected when court recessed at noon today in the case of Luther A. Murff, charged by indictment with criminal assault upon a young girl in this city. There are now four men in the jury box, as two had been chosen yesterday. The jury was not completed today.

AND FREEDOM

A Dependable Market System to Meet the Demands of a Great Commodity

The breath of a new life has been breathed into the cotton industry of the Southland.

The mighty premier of staples that clothes the multiplied nations of the world will at least assume its logical sphere as the KING OF ALL COMMODITIES.

Long held in subjugation by the arbitrary hand of "finance" it is proposed now to pay to the producer the golden dividends that have for many decades gone elsewhere.

A mighty sentiment is behind this movement. It means:

A new era of prosperity throughout the South.

Protection for the farmer, because he has gone into business.

A co-operative principle that will give him a voice with the "other fellow."

Losing battles and bad luck turned into success.

An incentive for the boy to stay on the farm.

Big bank balances, instead of a multitude of meager obligations.

Great movements in world prices, like great battles, must be fought directly by the people.

To accomplish things the masses must get together, because MAJORITY spells AUTHORITY.

The principle that men who work together accomplish more—make more money than men who work apart.

This is the basis upon which it is proposed to build a dependable valuation for cotton.

The system has been fully worked out; it is founded on fact—not theory; experience, not experiment—tested and proven out on the biggest commodity that grows.

In active operation in more than 250 cotton growing counties; all territory will be rapidly organized.

Let us tell you all about it.

AMONG WHOLESALE FIRMS

SUNSHINE AND BETTER ROADS
BRING BUSINESS BACK TO NORMAL.

Waco's Distributing Facilities Suit
Surrounding Merchants Admirably.

Activity again.
Sunshine and better roads.
Business wasn't exactly picking up yesterday; it was just resuming its active sway—and that's some sway.
The roads are not yet all that an autoist would ask for, but they are fast regaining their good condition.
A negative...

"I came in seven miles in my buggy. Most of the way the road was all right, but there are several bad places that will take a day or two to dry out. But I just had to come in for some articles needed. Business with me is good, better at this season of the year than I can remember ever it was before."

"Do you buy most of your supplies in Waco?" asked the News reporter.

"All of 'em," he replied. "Didn't used to; but, now that Waco has a house for anything and everything to handle, I don't have to look elsewhere. Do you know this is a great convenience for us country merchants? In the first place, if we need anything we can get it quick. And we don't have to buy in such large quantities as we once did. There is little or no delay. If a customer wants something we are temporarily out of, we can promise to secure it for him in twenty-four hours, and rarely are we disappointed. It's wonderful how Waco has grown of late years—commercially, I mean. Used to be you could get only certain things here; now you can get anything—including the best of treatment."

Among the out-of-town merchants visiting the different wholesale concerns of the city yesterday may be mentioned:

MOVE THE "A. &amp; M." MILNER SAYS NO

PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE HASTENS TO ANSWER THE SUGGESTION.

SHOWS STATISTICS OF STATES

Agricultural Instruction Gets Better Institution—More Students. Attention Where It is a Separate

College Station, March 12.—Col. R. T. Milner, president of the A. & M. college of Texas, gives out the following statement:

If we are to take into account the momentary humors and disposition of men and things, it would seem that there is some danger of the Agricultural and Mechanical college being moved to Austin. The miraculous conversion of the Dallas News in view of the fact that it was so sudden. But neither the News nor the other advocates of moving the college to Austin have seriously weighed the argument on either side. All the arguments that can be adduced now in favor of moving the college to Austin existed at all times in the past and the late "eureka" at the college neither strengthened nor weakened that position. The recent opinion of all fair-minded and sagacious men, have entrenched discipline behind a student sentiment which will grow stronger and stronger in the future and thus make it impossible for a recurrence of anything like a "strike."

The fact that California, Wisconsin, and Illinois have built up large and influential universities, in which agriculture is taught, is not even an ingenious argument in favor of consolidation. The fact that the Dallas News excepted the university of Illinois, the greatest of them all, from its list of successful consolidated schools, shows how little that paper has investigated this important question. No question has been discussed in Texas, by men of intelligence, in which there has been displayed more ignorance, or animosity than in the discussion of this very question of higher education. The contention that the university and the college of agriculture have been consolidated in California, Wisconsin and Illinois, furnishes no argument in favor of consolidation, but on the other hand, when compared with states having separate and independent schools, the proof is abundant and uncontested in favor of the latter.

Some State Conditions. "The university of California has a total enrollment of 4,806 students; only 409 are agricultural students, or 8 per cent. The university of Illinois has 4,943 students; 631 are agricultural students, or 13 per cent. The university of Wisconsin, the one about which more is said and less is known, than any other school in the group, has 4,149 students; 609, 14 per cent only are agricultural students. Now let us consider a few states in the same group whose universities and agricultural and mechanical colleges have been independent of each other from the beginning. The university of Indiana has 1,902 students; Purdue, the school of agriculture and technology, has 1,817; 18 per cent of whom are agricultural students or 8 per cent of the total number of the two institutions. And it is just to say that the scientific work which Purdue is doing in agriculture is not surpassed in any institution in the country while its work along lines of engineering is second only to the Boston School of Technology. The university of Kansas has 2,493 students; the Kansas Agricultural college has 1,975, 26 per cent of the total enrollment of the two schools.

of whom are agricultural students or 9 per cent of the total number of the two schools. The university of Michigan has 4,330 students, the Michigan agricultural college has 1,319, 41 per cent of whom are agricultural students or 9 per cent of the total number of both institutions. In the university of Iowa that are 2,666 students; there are 1,791 in the Iowa Agricultural and Mechanical; 45 per cent of them are agricultural students, or 21 per cent of the total number of the two schools. So it will be seen that a larger percentage of students are studying agriculture in the independent agricultural and mechanical colleges than in the consolidated universities.

The Proportion in Other States. "Is that all that can be said in favor of the system of establishing and keeping the agricultural and mechanical colleges separate and independent of the state universities? Not half. One person out of each 449 in Michigan attends either one or the other of its two state schools above mentioned; and in addition to them, Michigan has a flourishing school of mines, independent of the other two. In the much overrated state of Wisconsin, one person out of 464 sees the light of the great university. In Kansas one out of 467 finds his way into its university and agricultural and mechanical college, while in Illinois one out of 1166 enters its great consolidated educational institutions. Hence, a larger per cent of the population attends college in the states that have no consolidation of their higher institutions of learning. Is that all the argument that can be adduced in favor of our contention? Certainly, all that needs to suffice for any except the duller minds, but facts more potent and stronger than any yet given will be found in the comparison of the agricultural wealth of these states and the illiteracy. Farm property per capita in California is valued at $695. In Illinois at $692. In Wisconsin $695. These are the states that uninformed persons are pointing to with pride to show what the universities are doing to educate the farmer and to increase the agricultural wealth of their state.

Where the Two Are Separate. "Now let us take the states in the same group whose agricultural colleges are separate and independent of their state universities. The farm property per capita in Kansas is $1284; in Michigan it is $387; in Iowa $1688, nearly three times more than it is in California and Wisconsin. The average per capita farm wealth in those states where the agricultural colleges are left to work out their own destiny is $1097, and in the three states, California, Wisconsin and Illinois, with the great consolidated universities the farm wealth per capita is only $634. But let us carry the comparison a little further to show that it is the application of science to agriculture which makes this vast difference in favor of the independent agricultural colleges. In the states of Iowa, Michigan and poor bleeding Kansas, the average value of their cattle, horses, mules, swine and sheep far in excess of California, Wisconsin and Illinois. Education is to enlighten.

CHICKENS TO BE UNDER STOCK LAW

NEW CHARTER WILL INCLUDE FOWLS, WITH HORSES, GOATS, COWS AND SWINE.

PROTEST ON WATER RATES

Charter Committee Decides Consumers Should Not Pay the Interest and Sinking Fund—Other Matters.

Mrs. A. H. Newman, who represents the city federation of women's clubs on the charter committee, which met last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, made the motion to incorporate in the charter a clause which gives to the city commissioners the power to prevent chickens from running at large in the streets. The clause relating to horses, etc., in the old charter reads: "To prevent cattle, horses, goats, swine and other animals from running at large in the streets." The motion was made by Mrs. Newman to include fowls in this clause. Forrest Goodman objected to the motion on the ground that there are many people in the city who depend on the chickens to help support their families and that this would be a hardship on them. Mrs. Newman then explained that the city commissioners would have the right to limit the boundaries of the territory included in the chicken ordinance which they might pass. Mr. Miguel felt that the expense of erecting fences to keep chickens in would not be great, and that a man might have his "chicken ranch" in his back yard if he desired without having his neighbor's flower gardens to help feed the chickens. The motion to include the clause was passed. Mr. Goodman, voting against it, said: "There were present on the committee at the meeting Chairman A. R. McCollum, Mrs. A. H. Newman, Peyton Randle, Louis Migel and Forrest Goodman."

As to City Auditor. The first motion to be brought up was whether or not the city should have an auditor. Mr. Randle felt that the reports of the city finances, as now made, quarterly, or as often as the city commissioners see fit to ask for it, was not enough in detail. He felt that the public should be more thoroughly informed as to the receipts and disbursements of the city than they are under the present system.

Mr. Goodman felt that the treasurer at present was not in position to know the exact condition of the city's finances so far as receipts and disbursements were concerned, having a knowledge only of the amount of money on hand. He then made a suggestion that there be three or more persons appointed to audit the books and report on the same to the city commissioners at specified intervals, or as often as the commissioners require. The matter was left until Judge Surratt, who was present, could furnish the committee with the state legislation on the matter, which provides for the auditing of the county books.

Mr. Goodman moved to strike out article 82, section XVIII, which reads: "At the end of every half year the city treasurer shall cause to be published, at the expense of the city, a statement showing the amount of the receipts and expenditures for the six months next preceding, and the general condition of the city finances. The city treasurer shall also do and perform such other acts and duties as the city council may require, and shall receive no compensation."

The motion was carried. Tax Deed Worthless. The matter of tax collection then came up. The discussion brought out the fact that the sale of property to secure taxes resulted in nothing but creating cost, as the sales have never been made to stand in the courts—a tax deed being absolutely worthless. It seems to create confusion, according to Judge Surratt. Mr. Randle objects to the present method of having outside lawyers to collect taxes. He feels that the city attorney should perform this work. Mr. Goodman moved to pass article 84, which carried. This is the article as now stated, which deals with the collection of taxes. It was passed over until a future time. To Pay Collector Salary. Mr. Migel, speaking of the present article in the charter which provides for the depositing of the moneys, stated that he believed the city lost considerable interest by not having the money deposited offener. He made a motion which carried that the word "week" in the present charter be changed to "day."

Mr. Goodman wanted the city tax collector to be placed on a stipulated salary, instead of being employed on a commission basis. Mr. Randle felt that the work required a high grade man and unless the salary amounted to what the commissioners now amount to that the right man could not be secured. He felt that by the time the collector, under the present system, secured and paid his help that he could not receive more for himself than $3500 a year, and that a good man would have to be paid that much. He also felt that under the present system that the collector would make more of an effort to collect the taxes in full.

Mr. Goodman thought that the money is always brought to the office anyway and that the effort that the collector made to collect the taxes could not amount to a great deal. Mr. Migel thought that the collector under the new Somers system would have more money coming into the treasury and that this would raise his commissions up considerably higher than heretofore. He made the motion that the collector be paid a stipulated salary. The motion was carried, Randle voting against it. The assistants to the collector were discussed. A motion was made by Goodman to leave to the commissioners the matter of assistants, which carried.

Discuss Water Rates. The water commission then came up. Mr. Randle was opposed to the present method of making the consumer pay water rates which take care of the interest on the water works bonds, the sinking fund and the upkeep of the plant. The following is that part of the present charter which covers this:

"The rate and price so established by them shall be a rate and price sufficient to raise each year an amount equal to one year's interest and sinking fund on the $17,000 in thirty-year 4 per cent annual payment interest bonds of the city of Waco, and the $305,000 in thirty-year 5 per cent semi-annual interest payment bonds of the city of Waco, both issues known as the water works bonds of the said city and having been issued for the purchase, etc., of said plant. In addition to this said rate so fixed shall be sufficient also to defray the operating and incidental expenses, wear, tear and provide each year such sum for emergencies, extensions and betterments as said board of water commissioners may from time to time deem expedient and proper."

He felt that it was unjust to those who rent property to have to pay more than the actual cost of supplying them with water, with fair amount allowed for the wear on the plant, etc. "These people," he said, "can never have any interest in the plant which they are helping to buy. It makes them any plant in which they have no interest whatever. Either the interest or the sinking funds on the bonds, or both, should be paid by the city as a whole."

Mr. Migel felt that the bonds would not be salable unless secured by this income. Mr. McCollum explained in detail the injustice of the present method, and assured Mr. Migel that with the city providing for the sinking fund and the interest on the bonds they would be as salable as they would be under the present system, but that the people of the city as a whole would be paying for the plant instead of the consumers of water. The discussion here was quite lengthy. It was finally decided to discuss the matter fully with the water commissioners.

Mr. Randle here wanted to know whether or not the water commission could be forced to fix the streets properly after digging them up in the laying and repairing of mains and pipes. The matter of the powers granted to the city was next taken up. The list in the old charter is lengthy. Chairman McCollum asked if there were any suggestions as to additions to the powers already granted. Mrs. Newman here brought up the matter of putting a chicken clause in the charter, which passed.

For a Vehicle Tax. Mr. Migel suggested a vehicle tax, as is in force in Houston. He wanted all public and private vehicles taxed. Mr. Randle wanted to know if this would be a double tax, as vehicles were supposed to be taxed as property. Mr. Migel stated that this additional tax was for the use of the streets. The motion carried, and a clause taxing private and public vehicles was put in the charter. The amount of the tax was to be left to the commissioners.

No Taxing of Credits. Mr. Randle moved that there be a clause exempting money and paper credits from taxation. This is done in Houston, he says, and instead of the annual exodus of money and notes from the city at assessment time there would be a decided influx from outside places. He stated that there were wealthy parties who never rendered money and paper credits and then with considerable less money, who did so. He believed there is not $1000 received annually on money taxation. He also stated that with the taxing of notes there was a double taxation. The motion was carried unanimously.

The meeting adjourned. The next matter to be provided for in the new charter will be "Nuisances." The committee covered more ground at the meeting last night than has heretofore been covered. They will work more rapidly now, having been held back largely by waiting for the outcome of the bill on Home Rule, which is pending at Austin.

STREET CAR SMASHES AN AUTO

Hammond-Vawter Delivery Truck Is Destroyed and One Man Injured.

Coming down West avenue at a lively clip last night at 8 o'clock, car No. 59 of the Southern Traction company, collided with the delivery truck of the Hammond-Vawter company and made a complete wreck of it.

The yellow automobile of the tailoring house was driven by L. O. Earle, who was accompanied by J. A. Bates. Earle was painfully cut on the face and has other bruises, and Bates had a miraculous escape. The auto was tossed aside, the axle broken, the top torn into splinters and it was in other ways badly damaged. Just how the man escaped being badly injured is one of the unexplained things of accidents. The accident happened at Sixteenth street. The Hammond-Vawter auto is a low speed car, and was making its usual time when it was caught by the street car.

At the Southern Traction company's office last night it was stated that the accident had not yet been investigated and there was no statement to give out.

RAID A POOL ROOM WHITE SLAVES IN THE LARGE CITIES

OFFICERS ARREST THIRTY-FIVE NEGROES ON CHARGE OF GAMING.

Law Makes it an Offense if the Loser Pays the Table Fees of Game.

In a raid made yesterday on a pool hall operated by negroes and situated between Second and Third streets on Franklin, Constable Leslie Stegall and Deputies E. H. Smith and Phil Hobbs placed under arrest thirty-five negroes and against them were lodged charges of gaming. The gaming is alleged to have been done at pool and dominoes on which money is said to have been bet.

The officers surrounded the place, covering both front and back doors, and one went inside to search the men. This followed quiet watching on the part of the constable and others engaged to secure information on which to base convictions. Not a negro in the place was able to escape.

Following the searching of the men, they were lined up and marched to the county jail, where they were locked up pending a preliminary trial of their cases before a justice of the peace. Their appearance at the jail created considerable hilarity among the other prisoners, the newcomers being unmercifully jeered by the more seasoned brethren.

Law as to Pool Rooms. The law in regard to pool rooms is very strict. It is article 551 of the Revised Penal Code of 1911, and reads: "If any person shall keep or exhibit for the purpose of gaming any gaming table or bank of any name or description whatever, or any table or bank used for gaming which has no name, or slot machine, any pigeon hole or jenny blind table, or nine or ten-pin alley, table or alley of any kind whatever * * * shall be considered as used for gaming if the table fees or alley fees or money or anything of value is bet thereon * * * and he shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 and imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten nor more than ninety days, regardless of whether any of the above mentioned games, tables, banks or al-leyes are licensed by law or not."

Article 109 prohibits minors from going into or remaining in a pool or billiard hall.

DAMAGE SUITS ARE ON TRIAL

Each District Court Has a Personal Injury Claim Up for Hearing.

Trial was begun yesterday in each of the district courts on a suit against the Cotton Belt railroad, each suit being instituted on the ground of personal injuries due to the negligence of the company.

In the Nineteenth district court, Judge Tom L. McCullough and a jury entered into the case of W. J. Blair, who sues for $10,000, claiming that he was thrown to the ground and severely injured, several ribs broken, his back and hips having been sustained internally, when a Cotton Belt train was brought to a sudden halt while he was standing on the platform.

In the Fifty-fourth district court, Special Judge E. C. Street presiding in the absence of Judge Richard I. Munroe, J. P. Matthews asks $20,000 damages for the loss of a leg when he was struck by a switch engine at the Fourth street crossing on February 12 and internally injured. He claims that the fact that his foot had been caught in not having a watchman on the crossing, and that he was unable to attract the attention of the train engineer, was the cause of his injury. He was caught in the rail, although he yelled repeatedly as the engine came toward him.

BONUS FUND FOR FACTORIES

Chamber of Commerce to Raise $100,000 to Give to Newcomers Here.

The Waco Chamber of Commerce announced that it will agree to raise $100,000 to be used as a bonus fund for factories to be located in Waco.

There was a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which was heretofore called the Waco Business Men's Club, yesterday morning. The suggestion of a fund for the purpose of Waco was raised, was brought up and discussed, and it was decided that better publicity could be had and better results achieved by raising a fund of $100,000 for bonus giving than to raise $50,000 for publicity. The plan is to use this fund according to the merit of the factory seeking a location. It will not be given to promoters, but to the actual owners of factories who move here, employ a number of men that will be agreed upon, the amount to be paid to be decided according to the character of the factory and the character of labor that will be employed. Payments will be made on an agreed basis when it is a going concern in the city.

The Chamber of Commerce will soon put on a membership drive. The organization now has 200 members.

GRAND JURY INSPECTS JAIL.

Sheriff and Jailor Are Keeping It in Good Condition.

An indication that the session of the grand jury is nearing its close is shown by the fact that the inspection of the county jail and the courthouse already has been made by that body. Sheriff S. S. Fleming and Jailor Ed Costley, immediately after entering office, announced that in future the county jail should be kept in the best possible condition under the circumstances, and Jailor Costley has had his prisoners at work scrubbing and repainting ever since he took charge of the place.

The sheriff did not seem to be seriously upset by the appearance of the grand jury upon his preserves.

BLOT OUT RED LIGHT DISTRICT

Says it Can Be Done and These Men Will Cease to Sell American Girls.

Blot out the red light districts of the cities of the United States and the white slave traffic cannot exist; denizens of the tendorion are not all voluntary pervers; the white slave traffic is an adjunct of the liquor traffic.

These were a few of the sensational statements made to an audience of men in the Fifth Street Methodist church last night by the Rev. E. R. Fulkerson, Ph. D., Lic. D., LL.D., one of the organizers of the National Anti-White Slave association and probably the best-posted man in the world upon moral and social questions.

That the daughter of a governor, sent to Denver for her health, fell into the hands of an agent of the organized traffic, ate drugged candy, awakened in the padded cell of a white slave traffic market and was rescued only a few days ago in Denver and her father in the east notified, was one of the instances to which he called the attention of his audience, this, however, being illustrative of thousands of other similar cases.

Introducing Dr. Fulkerson, Dr. Ashley Chappell, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, in which building the meeting was held, stated that he was sorry the audience present was not greater, the subject to be discussed being important and the speaker the greatest living authority on it. Dr. Fulkerson said he had addressed audiences in this country numbering from 25 to 12,000 people, and that he was always glad to face an audience of men, whether that audience be great or small. He believed the social evil was the greatest menace to American people today. Study of the question had taken him over thirteen of the civilized nations of the world, he having traveled during the last twenty-two years a distance of 284,000 miles prosecuting these investigations. He said that he had come to believe some things now that he could not have been convinced of ten or fifteen years ago, but that his investigations had forced upon him certain conclusions.

Social Evil a Cause.

While he studied the rise and fall of other nations in the past, he had asked himself the question, "What is the secret of the disintegration and destruction of this power?" Satisfying himself that it was neither ignorance nor poverty, he had been driven to seek for the cause along other lines and these brought him to the matter of the liquor traffic and the social evil.

The liquor traffic, he said, is the twin sister of the unbridled growth of the social evil. In the declining days of Rome, in the morning a man would meet his neighbor upon the street and each would laugh in the face of the other, each knowing that the other was an insincere and a fool. Each knew, in that growing materialistic age, that the other would beat him out of his worldly goods if he could. Human life was little taken into account and men in that day were known to slay their wives. Virtue was accounted as nothing.

This, he said, is the tendency of the civilization of the Twentieth century. There is now a marked tendency to accentuate the material side of life at the expense of the spiritual. The whole fabric of the nation's educational system, he said, is drifting toward material things, rather than aiming at the moral training of the child.

Dollars Against Human Lives.

There also is, he said, a growing tendency to cheapen human life, dollars being placed on one side of the balances and human lives on the other. In Chicago are 50,000 girls working in department stores on wages less than $5 a week. Yet the men who are employing them are declaring big dividends on their business.

He declared that in conjunction with over 200 government secret service men and 1000 detectives in the large cities of the country, the Anti-White Slave association had secured accurate figures which show that in the year just closed (1912) 65,000 girls were decoyed from their homes in the United States and sold into the red light district at from $20 to $200 a head, each bringing, he pointed out, less money than the average Texas mule.

Traffic Is Increasing.

The white slave traffic has stolen silently upon the American people. So silently, he said, that few men can be induced to believe its terrible menace, who have not inside information to guide them. In the words of William Jennings Bryan, "Tell the American people for me that the traffic is so awful that the average person does not believe it."

He referred to the service of John D. Rockefeller Jr., on the federal grand jury in New York investigating the traffic.

traffic. Mr. Rockefeller said, had found it awful a traffic of which he had before had no conception, that he had contributed $10,000,000 to be used in building industrial homes for lost women.

The average American boy, diseased though he be, is admitted into the homes of the people, he said, yet the girl who has made one mistake in life has no place to go. There is something radically wrong with this sort of civilization, he declared, where such discrimination can be permitted. The girls, he said, are true of the convict, for when he leaves the penitentiary, the average citizen draws his robes of virtue about him and shuns the ex-convict as if he were infected with the plague.

Before the year 1861, at the close of the opium war, China had no opium and the natives no opium habit. The opium was forced upon the people by England, a Christian nation, and since then 65,000,000 people have gone down as slaves to the drug.

Tendency to Commercialize.

The tendency of the age is to commercialize everything, said Dr. Fulkerson, and it has even come to the commercializing of the girls for the money there is in it. The traffic, he said, is the greatest in America. And in America the girls, in a vast majority of cases, he said, are decoyed, their acts are not voluntary.

When he was vice consul at Nagasaki, Japan, he said there arrived one evening an American transport with troops for the Philippines. The next morning he went down to his office and found fourteen American girls under the age of 21, sitting on his doorstep, dressed horribly, and abandoned by the vessel which had brought them over. The story of their voyage, he said, was one too horrible for print.

These girls, he said, had been purchased in the white slave market in San Francisco, placed aboard the vessel and, on account of their pitiable condition, abandoned by the vessel when she steamed out of the harbor that morning before he had reached his office.

Tracing back the records of the girls, he found that nine of them had been members of the church, all had come from good homes, had been decoyed to houses at which the spirits of the girls had been broken, and then sold as so many cattle.

The larger cities, he said, supply the demand of the smaller cities and so the traffic is carried on in America. Blot out the tendorion and the traffic cannot live.

He told of another party of twenty-three girls he had rescued in Japan who were being shipped to Siberia to be given over to officers of the Russian army.

And yet, he said, in twenty-eight states of the country the penalty for trafficking in the daughters of the nation, the maximum penalty, is three years in the penitentiary—less than the maximum penalty that may be inflicted for the theft of a mule.

Now a Federal Law. However, Dr. Fulkerson wished to thank God that there is now a federal
